

Who are we?

Cormack Packaging is a private company based in Sydney, Australia that for over 60 years has manufactured and distributed specialized packaging to the personal care, pharmaceutical, household cleaning, food, beverage and cosmetic industries in Australia and New Zealand.

Cormack Packaging has its manufacturing facility in Condell Park in Sydney where it continually invests in new equipment and quality systems.

Cormack Packaging represents in Australia many of the world leading packaging companies including MeadWestvaco Calmar, Berry Plastic and many others.

Cormack Packaging realizes that its future success relies on its ability to provide its customers with innovative packaging solutions that add excitement to its customers's brands. Cormack achieves this by delivering to the Australian market the latest in American and European ideas and employing an in-house design team who are the winners of Cormacks University Innovation Awards. These awards are a national competition for Industrial Design students.
